Data Representation 🎴

- Data representation is the method of encoding and structuring different types of data into binary form so that a computer can store, process, and transmit it.

What is a Computer? 🖥️

- Combination of Hardware and Software that can receive, process, store and output information.

What is a Program? 📖

- Program is a set of instruction that a computer follows to perform a specific task.

What can a computer understand? 🧠

- A computer can understand binary numbers (0 , 1).

What is a number system and why we use it? 🔍

- Number system is mathematical notation to represent values. We use number systems to store and manipulate data.

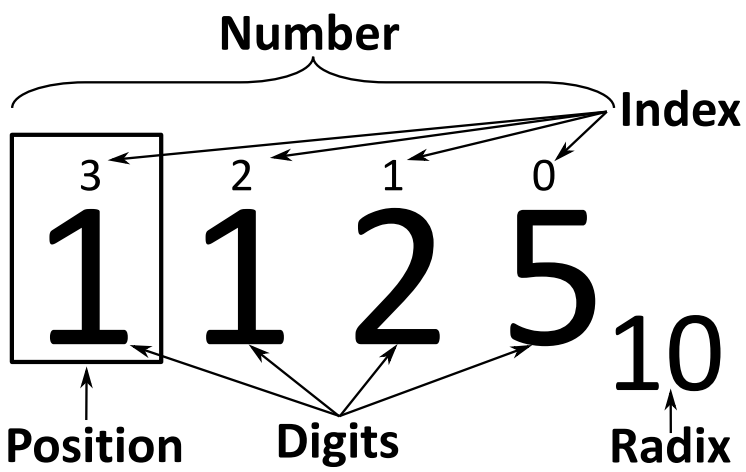
Types of Number Systems

- Binary → Base 2
- Octal → Base 8
- Decimal → Base 10
- Hexa-Decimal → Base 16



----- By Nethpahan Udathara -----

----- End -----